

Great Wilsey: 'You have not listened'

Transport concerns have not been addressed, say town councillors

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

COUNCILLORS are "strongly objecting" to a new plan for the 2,500-home Great Wilsey Park development as they say transport concerns have not been listened to.

The development would bring thousands of new residents into Haverhill and at a borough council sustainability meeting last year councillors agreed that a traffic survey and strategic transport assessment should be done to work out how the town could cope with the influx.

But at a town council planning meeting on Tuesday night, town, borough and county councillor John Burns said these transport assessments had not been delivered.

A new plan for the development makes changes including a thicker tree belt and a right of way on the Kedington side of the site – but there has been no response to other requests made by the town council.

These include an automatic

OBJECTIONS: Councillors Jason Crooks, Quillon Fox and Tony Brown

number plate recognition (ANPR) survey and improvements to the A1307 road to Cambridge.

Town, borough and county councillor Tony Brown said: "Let's stand up for our residents and object to it, and allow a clear message to get out that enough is enough. We need the infrastructure to support our residents – this is 2,500 houses, not 25! "We need the county council to do a traffic survey, build the north-west relief road, and start looking at a proper strategic plan."

Other town councillors supported Cllr Brown, with Cllr Quillon Fox saying: "They have to build the relief road first."

Concerns about the development which had not previously been submitted to the borough council were also raised.

Cllr Jason Crooks raised concerns about the density of the first phase of the development, which he said had increased in comparison with the original plans. He added that an area of woodland on the development should be put into public ownership.

Cllr Brown also said there may be a colony of dormice on the development site, which could be "nationally significant" as it would be the most north-easterly colony in the country. He said there were also six types of bat on the site which could be affected.

The town council agreed to submit a formal response to the updated plan saying that they strongly objected, based on the fact that their previous concerns had not been listened to, and adding their new concerns.

The application must now go before St Edmundsbury Borough Council's planning committee.

PLANNING

Concern over 60ft building

'A BEACON': The revised plan for the innovation centre

A PROPOSED innovation centre at Haverhill Research Park could be a "beacon" standing in full view of hundreds of Haverhill homes, councillors have said.

An application to make changes to the plans for the building was discussed at a town council planning meeting on Tuesday night.

Town, borough and county councillor Tony Brown said: "I've got reservations about the height of that building and the effect it's going to have on neighbouring residents. I've got severe concerns about siting it on top of a hill – it's 60ft high.

"It's going to be a beacon. It's going to be one of those things that people either love or hate."

His concerns were echoed by Cllr Quillon Fox, who said that it would "loom over" the town, and Cllr Anthony Williams, who said that residents had expressed concerns about how it would affect their view of the sunsets.

HANNAH MIRSKY

However, town mayor David Roach said that the new version of the innovation centre was not substantially different from the original plan, which the town council had not objected to when it was submitted.

Cllr Tom Chivers said: "If you reduce the size of the building you have to reduce the capacity, and then you reduce the interest of the businesses because they want a particular size."

Cllr Jason Crooks added that the structure would not stick out so noticeably once other buildings had been constructed on the Haverhill Research Park site.

The council voted not to object to the application.

After the meeting, Nic Rumsey, of Research Park developers Jaynic, said: "We are seeking a revised consent to make the Epicentre building more development efficient by improving the internal layout and making it more financially viable."

"On the basis that we receive the Section 73 approval, we have agreed financing for the project and look forward to starting on-site in the early autumn. Other than the internal reconfiguration there are no changes to the height of the building and, in fact, it is slightly lower than the building for which we have consent because we have removed the beacon from the top of the building."

The revised application must now go to St Edmundsbury Borough Council's for a planning decision.

TRANSPORT

Residents evacuated after arsonists target flat

A FIRE which badly damaged a flat in Haverhill on Saturday is being treated as arson.

Police and the fire service were called to the blaze, in a ground floor flat in Gannet Close, at around 1.50pm.

It is believed a number of fires had been started inside.

Neighbour Andreea Tiru was the first to raise the alarm.

She said she walked out of her home and saw flames coming out of the window opposite.

She alerted another neighbour and the emergency services were called. Other neighbours then began shouting through the windows of the flat to see if anyone was inside. There was no one in at the time.

She said: "I say God led me out to see the fire – it might have been worse."

Two fire crews from Haverhill and one from Linton were sent to the scene, by which time the flat was well alight.

Nearby homes were evacuated.

Sidney Smith, 87, who lives next door said: "I was in the kitchen and a couple of chaps were banging at my windows. I didn't know what was wrong until I got outside."

"Smoke was coming from all the windows."

The crews used breathing apparatus, two hosereels and two jets and brought the fire under control by 3.15pm.

An arson investigation is under way. The fire caused considerable damage to the flat itself, and smoke damage to other flats in the same building, including Mr Smith's.

DAMAGE: The aftermath of the arson attack at a Haverhill home

On Facebook, residents have rallied around the woman and her son who reportedly live in the flat where the fire occurred, offering essential items, and raising £190 so far.

Rebekka Larkin, who set up the Justgiving page for the resident and her son said: "I have known the family a good few years and when I heard about the fire I knew how devastating this would be for [her] because I know the struggle [she] has gone through to decorate, furnish and make her home nice."

Anyone who witnessed anything or has any information about the fire should call police on 101 quoting reference 38087/16.

ONE HAVERHILL

A1307 dualling on the agenda

THE campaign to improve Haverhill's road links to Cambridge was just one of the issues on the agenda at the board meeting of a Haverhill community partnership.

The campaign to get the A1307 turned into a dual carriageway is being spearheaded by the Haverhill and Suffolk Chambers of Commerce. At a meeting of ONE Haverhill's board yesterday, John Mayhew of the Haverhill Chamber explained the progress of the campaign.

He said that they had recently met with South East Cambridgeshire MP Lucy Frazer, as the road runs through her constituency, and said they were supported by borough and county councillors.

He said: "The campaign is being well supported by everyone involved. Both the LEPs are involved."

"But this is a long term project – we know there's not a hope in hell of getting funding before 2020."

He said that the campaigners were hopeful of setting up meetings with the parish councils of South Cambs villages that oppose dualling the A1307, such as Horseheath and Linton, in order to find some common ground.

HANNAH MIRSKY

Town, borough and county councillor John Burns, a new member of the board, said that ONE Haverhill should be looking at strategic transport links such as rail as well – but Mr Mayhew said that this had never been part of the Chamber's campaign.

Cllr Alaric Pugh said that ONE Haverhill's town centre masterplan task group had also been working on how to improve transport in the town. He said: "The first piece of work we need is to discover the real physical and legal constraints on improving connectivity in the town."

He added that the masterplan task group would also be looking at how to provide public services as well as shops in the town centre.

Chair of ONE Haverhill Sarah Howard said: "When we did the initial masterplan one of the things that was raised is the important thing for any high street is having combined services."

Board members also heard back from task groups working on tackling anti-social behaviour, improving healthcare and providing education and training.

The anti-social behaviour task group is working to tackle certain hotspots around multi-occupancy houses where incidents such as assault and drug crime are more likely to occur.

Haverhill's new police inspector Danny Cooper – attending his first ONE Haverhill meeting – spoke about drugs enforcement that had been carried out and how the police were working with the borough council to put measures in place.

Tribute to a 'determined and visionary' headteacher

Picture: Keith Jones

A PRIMARY school has remembered a former headteacher who died in a riding accident at the age of just 47.

Lesley Farrow, who was head of Clements Primary Academy in Haverhill's Greenfields Way from 2009 to 2014, died on July 11 last year after falling from her horse. She oversaw the movement of the school into a brand new building, and was praised in an Ofsted report for her "determined and visionary leadership".

Now the school has put up a bench engraved in her memory, at the front of the school and this week, staff, governors, pupils and Mrs Farrow's husband Tim all gathered to pay their respects.

Mr Farrow said: "Lesley enjoyed teaching in Haverhill. She was thrilled to be a part of this lovely building. I feel it's a most fitting tribute to her."

Jane Trampnow, who was deputy headteacher during Mrs Farrow's time at the school and is now head of All Saints School in Newmarket, said: "For me, Lesley used to walk in every day and talk to parents [where the bench stands]."

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

"She was very keen on linking with the community, linking with parents. It's lovely to actually have her name written there. She did an enormous amount for the school."

She described Mrs Farrow, saying: "She was incredible cheerful, positive, inclusive and supportive, and relentless in pursuing school improvements."

Mr Farrow said his wife would have liked to be remembered as "hands on."

Current headteacher Caroline Zwierzchowska-Dod said: "We all decided when Mrs Farrow died that we wanted to remember her in some way at our school, and that was really important. We all decided that a bench was something we could keep forever, for a very long time, and it was something that we would see every day as we came into school, and it was something that was useful."

The bench is in an area where parents often wait outside the school doors.

ROCK ON: The pageant at the Kedington Meadowlark

PICTURE: Nathan Loader

Having a lark on village's meadow

RESIDENTS turned out for Kedington's annual Meadowlark last weekend.

The annual pageant attracted costumes around this year's theme "Rock of Ages", ranging from punk rockers to characters from TV cartoon The Flintstones to pixelated visions from computer game Minecraft.

Other attractions at the event, on the Great Meadow, included train rides, a virtual reality roller coaster, cheerleaders, dancers, a barbecue and a beer tent.

The event followed a week of Meadowlark activities, which included bingo, a youth duathlon and a scarecrow competition.

This was the 48th Meadowlark event to raise money for Kedington Community Centre and Great Meadow.

JUSTICE

Town could host a court

COURT hearings could be held in Haverhill for the first time in years, Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner says, if a minister gives the green light.

After a meeting at Ipswich Magistrates' Court last Thursday, members of a "coalition of the willing" have applied to Government Justice minister Shailesh Vara for permission to develop a new system of summary justice in Suffolk, said PCC Tim Passmore.

He added: "What we are looking at is those cases that would normally be heard in a magistrates court being heard in other buildings; better use of videolinks. Where there's concern about security in a small number of cases, we could look at custody suites."

The meeting in Ipswich was held after the government confirmed that Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court – as well as the magistrates court in Lowestoft – was set to close, leaving Suffolk with just one magistrates court, in Ipswich.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

If no alternative arrangements are found, this could leave Haverhill residents with an almost 100-mile round trip to get to court.

Mr Passmore said: "We've really got to think about people at the bottom of the social pile, who perhaps don't have a car, victims of domestic abuse."

He said that if alternative arrangements such as temporary courts in public buildings went ahead, court hearings could be held in Haverhill for the first time in years.

He said: "We would look at places like Haverhill – it's soon going to be our third or fourth biggest town. It doesn't have to be a magistrates court open 24 hours. The access to justice is the key."

He said if Mr Vara gave his backing for the work to be done, a new system could be developed by the end of the year.

Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court is set to shut between July and September, but Mr Passmore said interim measures were also being looked at.

He said that individuals who were on board with developing a new system included academics, Suffolk MPs, the Chief Constable and High Sheriff.

MP for Bury St Edmunds, Jo Churchill, attended last Thursday's meeting in Ipswich. She said: "The outcome of the meeting was that there is scope for all interested parties to work on practical solutions to ensure access to justice in both the short and long term, in Suffolk."

A spokesperson for the Ministry of Justice said that the meeting had been held to discuss options and that no decisions had been made. They added that the decision to close magistrates courts was never taken lightly and the government was investing £700million in reforming and digitising courts and tribunals.

I have stated our objections

REGARDING the Development Great Wilsey Park in North East Haverhill behind the Chalkstone Estate.

The new consultation runs until 17th June – I feel it should have been longer but none the less. I have entered our objections.

Apart from from this huge build of 2,500 new homes, together with another large build of 1,500 homes will flood Haverhill and be the death of this town as we struggle with all our few amenities... the lack of Infrastructure, transport, health care, shopping in the town centre, railway.

There will be a huge increase in population – we have already gained 5,000 since 2011 causing havoc in doctors' surgeries – and we will be set to gain another 8,000 to 16,000 residents.

I have seen the new proposed changes that is supposed to help with noise and flow of traffic and they are not enough.

They should have access independent of the chalkstone estate.

We have already had a large increase in heavy traffic as the parents of children attending schools on Chalkstone Way note the frustration dropping and collecting.

The proposed lights and give way will not suffice, they need a relief road directly onto Sturmer Road and Wratting Road away from the Chalkstone and even then there will be problems with traffic flow on the roundabout and on to Cambridge.

Most households have two vehicles so we're looking at 5,000. The state of the roads on Chalkstone have been churned up with several heavy double deckers buses that trundle through every hour.

Plus there will be another increase when the 3G football Pitch is built on Chalkstone way.

I think this scale of building is irresponsible for Haverhill. Where do we have 8,000 to 16,000 locals waiting to buy a new home?

The Government promises to build a million new homes so never mind if it's out of proportion with small towns and villages.

Who are these new homes really for? Why have St Edmundsbury Borough Council Planning agreed to so many? Could it be related to extra council tax funding, or not wanting more in Bury St Edmunds?

I agree with both Kevin Betts – it's badly planned – and Cllr Julian Flood – the impact on traffic – and if there is a relief road it should not come off Chalkstone Way and be built before housing starts. The 17th is the deadline – get on line and have your say.

Horse advice for cyclists

AFTER a traumatic and aggressive encounter with a cyclist in Balsham while riding my horse, I wanted to clear up some common misconceptions about horses and give some advice on approaching horses when on a bicycle.

Firstly, horses are not bombproof.

Your pictures

HAPPY FAMILIES: Julie Harvey sent us this photo of two families of geese enjoying their afternoon outing at the Reservoir in Haverhill.

■ We love to see your pictures. Send them in JPEG format marked 'Your Pictures' to wendy.davey@cambridge-news.co.uk. Please add your name, address and daytime telephone number, where you took the photo and, if possible, a picture of yourself! We reserve the right to reuse pictures at our discretion.

Although some are experienced and very well behaved, some are young and inexperienced and the only way to teach them is to take them out onto roads and bridleways.

Horses are flight animals and when they are frightened, their first instinct is to turn and run.

Admittedly, what frightens a horse may not be immediately obvious. It could be a bag in the hedge or a bird in a tree. Whatever it is, it is best to give horses a wide berth.

A bicycle is virtually silent so a horse will not always hear you approaching from behind, particularly if they are busy concentrating on all the scary things that might jump out of the hedge! A good indication of which direction a horse is listening is to take a look at its ears. If they are pricked forward, the horse is probably looking out for one of the scary things that may jump out of a bush in front it and hasn't noticed you at all.

If you are on a bicycle and approaching a horse from behind, it is a good idea to make yourself known.

A "hello" or "coming through" is all that is necessary for both horse and rider to know you are there and prepare themselves for you passing. Most horses don't mind.

In fact, a very courteous riding club all recently announced their presence from around 30 feet behind me, giving me ample time to turn to face them and my horse stood happily, watching them pass.

This is in vast contrast to the one cyclist on a by-way who passed within a foot of my horse, startling us both and then, when my horse was in a state of panic, turning and shouting at me to get out of his way!

On a final note, please be assured that riders want everyone to stay safe. If a rider asks a cyclist to pass a horse wide and slow, it is as likely that they don't want you to get kicked as it is for their own safety.

Our wildlife needs the EU

The green spaces we know and love are better protected thanks to EU nature laws and, with just days to go until the EU referendum, it's time we put nature at the centre of the debate.

Iconic wildlife hotspots in this area including Devil's Dyke, Fenland, the Nene and Ouse Washes, Portholme and Orton Pit have an important extra level of protection under EU law.

Nearly 300 green spaces in Britain benefit from being part of an EU-wide network of protected areas. Almost 11,000 square miles of our country's most precious wildlife sites are recognised as special areas of conservation by the European Union for their rare and endangered species of birds, trees and bugs.

Many of those wishing to leave the EU see nature protection as an unnecessary burden on UK business.

It is incredibly important to protect our wildlife at an international level

– the animals and habitats we take for granted locally are often rare in Europe – and the European Union is absolutely the best place to work together with our neighbours to do this.

To ensure these places stay as nature intended, to protect the many valuable conservation sites that so many people enjoy, it is vital we vote Remain on the 23rd June.

Animals can die in the heat

WITH the arrival of warmer weather, we should be reminded that animals can suffer and die.

Dogs die in hot cars (even if the sun is not shining) and should not be left in them even for short periods.

Other animals suffer, too. Rabbits must not be left in the glaring sun or inside a sweltering garage or shed. They need a cool, shady place where air circulates.

A hot rabbit can be kept cool by applying cold water gently to his ears.

Smaller animals such as hamsters, rats and gerbils can be kept cool by opening windows and closing curtains, and by ensuring a good supply of fresh water.

REMEMBRANCE

We will always remember him

'A SINCERITY OF PURPOSE': John Vinter Gurteen in uniform

With Armed Forces Week approaching, HANNAH MIRSKY found out more about a Battle of Britain pilot from Haverhill whose memory lives on . . .

HE went to school with an American president and was one of "The Few", as fighter pilots of the Second World War were known. He was shot down on 'Battle of Britain Day' – but only now is he being added to his home-town's war memorial.

John Vinter Gurteen was a fighter pilot from Haverhill who died at the age of 24 when his Hurricane N482 was shot down over south London.

Pilot Officer Gurteen is commemorated on the Battle of Britain Memorial at Capel le Ferne near Folkestone in Kent.

And now, thanks to the efforts of the Haverhill Royal British Legion, his name is to be added to the Second World War Memorial in Haverhill Cemetery later this month.

The Haverhill Family History group has been researching the life of the local officer.

Born into the clothes-manufacturing Gurteen family, John grew up in Coupals Road. His relatives Christopher and Charles Gurteen still run the family business, and have kept an archive of letters and photographs that shed light on the pilot's life.

REMEMBERED: A young John Vinter Gurteen. Right: A drawing by the pilot

Having been schooled in Oxford and Wiltshire, 17-year-old John Gurteen won a scholarship to attend the USA's prestigious Choate School in Connecticut, also attended by a young John F Kennedy. It is likely he was in the same year group as the president-to-be.

A report from John's time at the school describes him as having "a sincerity of purpose that makes the school better for his being here."

After returning to the UK in 1934, he lived in Nottingham before signing up for the RAF in 1939 after war broke out. He completed his training and earned his commission as a Pilot Officer in 1940 and joined 504 Squadron in Castletown, Scotland, in June.

A letter sent by John Gurteen to his parents that August reads: "As you know I am flying Hawker Hurricanes – max speed 335 mph. Lovely aeroplanes to fly and in spite of their gear speed, extremely docile."

"In the first month I have been training, getting used to the old "Hurricane" and practising formation flying, attacks, and air firing."

A letter to Plt Off Gurteen's father from an RAF colleague describes the young pilot as "keen as mustard and easily the best of the bunch".

It was early September when the young pilot's squadron moved to Hendon – where John wrote they were "roughing it" in terms of accommodation – to join the Battle of Britain in the skies above London.

Just days later, on what is now known as Battle of Britain Day – September 15, 1940 – at 1pm in the afternoon, Plt Off Gurteen's Hurricane was shot down above south London.

His plane dived full throttle on to Whiffens Cottage in Hartley, Kent. The owner had been in a bomb shelter and was unharmed.

A letter sent to John Gurteen's parents by his commanding officer after his death reads: "We intercepted some enemy bombers, escorted by fighters, right over the middle of London. After the attack, we all became separated, as often happens."

"It must have been after this, on his way home, that John got shot down, either while attacking something, or else caught out by some enemy fighters while on his own. Nobody saw anything."

The pilot from Haverhill was just 24 years old when he died. He was cremated at Hendon Crematorium, and his ashes were scattered over his house by his friend and colleague Flight Lieutenant WB Royce of 504 Squadron.

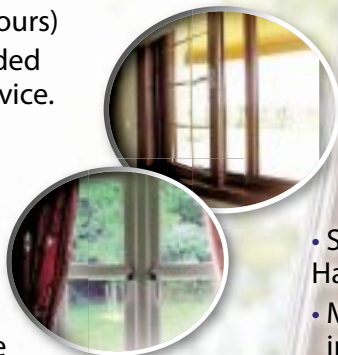

Members of Plt Off Gurteen's family are set to attend a rededication ceremony next Wednesday, June 22, when Plt Off Gurteen and another Haverhill soldier, Sgt Tom English, will have their names officially added to the Haverhill memorial.

Rebecca's winning sign is warning to motorists

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A NEW sign designed by a 9-year-old girl reminding motorists to slow down has been put up in a Haverhill street

The image on the sign, in the town's Garlands Close, was created by schoolgirl Rebecca Collins, who lives in the street.

It was put up by Suffolk County Council after Rebecca's drawing was chosen as a winning entry in a competition to design the sign.

Rebecca's mum, Hannah, said: "Rebecca entered the competition as she wanted cars to slow down to make Garlands Close a safer place for her and friends to play, as there are lots of children in the area."

Her design features a picture of herself and her brother Lewis, 6, playing in the street, accompanied by the words "Slow Down".

The young artist was given £20 as a prize by Suffolk Housing – which she spent on an Xbox controller for Lewis so he could play games with their dad.

Mum Hannah said: "She was really excited to find out that she had won, and to see her winning sign go up. She was also very generous with her prize money – we are really proud of her."

A similar sign designed by 13-year-old Molly Smythe was put up in Mildenhall.

Martin Barnes-Smith, community development manager with Suffolk Housing, said: "We are always looking for ways to involve our community, and thought that asking young people to come up with eye-catching designs would be a good way to spread the road safety message."

"We were delighted with the quality of entries we received and hope that drivers will pay attention to the new signs and make these two residential streets safer for local children."

The News revealed earlier this year that some vehicles in Haverhill were travelling at up to 90mph on residential roads.

COURT

Man in court facing nine charges

A HAVERHILL man has appeared in court charged with nine offences over a period of two months.

Omar Parfett, of Kirtling Place, appeared at Ipswich magistrates court last Thursday.

He did not enter a plea and will appear again at Ipswich Magistrates' Court on July 7.

Parfett, 25, was arrested on Tuesday, June 7, by Suffolk police investigating a series of burglaries which had taken place since the start of April this year.

Parfett was taken to the Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre where he was interviewed and afterwards charged with nine offences.

The charges all relate to either burglary or taking a vehicle without the owner's consent across the Haverhill and Newmarket areas.

Parfett is charged with burglary and with taking a vehicle without the owner's consent in Hundred Acre Way, Red Lodge, on April 8; in Newton Place, Haverhill, on May 28; in Recreation Road, Haverhill, on June 3 and in Freshfields, Newmarket, on June 4.

He is also charged with burglary in Mill Hill, Newmarket, on June 4.

POLITICS

Pupil celebrates election victory

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A 15-YEAR-OLD student from Haverhill has been elected to a national youth parliament.

Dominic Richards, who lives in Haverhill and attends Samuel Ward Academy, discovered he was West Suffolk's new UK Youth Parliament (UKYP) member last week.

He said: "I was quite pleased that I got it – I worked quite hard on my manifesto."

Dominic, pictured, will now represent the young people of West Suffolk at UKYP events, including an annual debate in the House of Commons and meetings with ministers and other MPs.

In his manifesto, Dominic highlighted issues to do with migration, the NHS and climate change.

He said: "I would like to change the local area for young people. I think they young people."

Dominic has been interested in politics since a young age.

He said: "I have been quite passionate about politics for quite a long time. My granddad was a union man in the 70s and 80s and I sort of got it from there. I come from a political family."

He said as soon as he heard about UKYP he knew he wanted to be a part of it. His ambition is to become an MP and set up his own political party, which combines liberal and conservative values.

He said: "I think you don't only need one element – a combination of policies would be better."

Dominic urged young people in Haverhill and across West Suffolk to get in touch if they had ideas or problems he could help with.

He said the best way of doing this was to visit Suffolk's Youth website, www.the-source.me.uk would like to see more opportunities for youth groups, more things to do.

"We could do a lot for the environment, like planting more trees and setting up smaller renewable energy sources – I think that's possible."

He added that he would like to see the return of a walk-in health centre like the one which closed down in Haverhill in 2012.

He said: "I think they are very important issues for

CRIME

Warning after vehicle crimes

POLICE are reminding residents to be vigilant after a number of vehicle crimes in Haverhill – including one car having stones thrown at it and a fire started inside it.

A silver Saab 95 parked and left in Haverhill's Leather Lane between June 6 and 7 had its front windscreen and front offside windows smashed by lumps of rock thrown by vandals.

They also damaged the bonnet, took papers from inside the vehicle, set them alight and left them on the driver's seat.

Although a high level of damage was caused, nothing was stolen from the car.

However, two other vehicles in Haverhill have had items stolen from them over the last week.

A white Ford Transit van left locked and parked in Snowdon Court had items stolen from it between 7pm on June 7 and 8.30am the following day.

The thieves broke into

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

the van through the driver's door and searched the vehicle before stealing two Makita power drills and two cable reels.

On Sunday night, a car left insecure in a private parking area behind a residential property on Burton End was also raided by thieves.

The blue Nissan Almera had a TomTom satnav and a Bluetooth headset stolen from it, as well as two pairs of glasses, vehicle documents and an old pencil case.

The incident took place between 7.30pm on Sunday and 5.30am the following morning. There were no signs of the car being broken into.

In light of these crimes, police are asking residents to be vigilant about locking their vehicles and not leaving valuables inside.

PCSO Lorna Chapman, of Haverhill police, said: "Please keep your vehicles locked and don't leave any valuables on display.

"If you have nothing to hide in your glove box, leave your glove box open.

"Don't even leave a pound coin because your window will be smashed for that.

"With satnavs don't leave the holder on and remove the sticky mark, even if you're parked in your own private parking area."

Anyone who knows anything about the crimes is asked to contact Haverhill police on 101, or to call Crimestoppers, anonymously if required, on 0800 555 111.

OPEN GARDENS

ENGLISH COUNTRY GARDEN:
The gardens at Abbots Ripton Hall will open for the biennial charity show, on June 25 and 26

Secret garden

The gardens at Abbots Ripton Hall, the stately home just outside Huntingdon, open only for a biennial charity show. Back for 2016, and supported by Haverhill News' sister publication, Cambridge Magazine, it takes place on June 25 and 26, promising everything from a food fair, classic car display and big band music to plant stalls and talks – as well as the chance to tour the impressive eight-acre plot. Tickets cost £9 for adults and under-15s go free – see abbotsriptonhall.co.uk.

THE grounds of Abbots Ripton Hall are best-known for hosting cult music festival The Secret Garden Party. But the plot keeps a secret of its own: along with the 200-acre festival site, it's home to the most amazing eight-and-a-half acre garden. Owned by the De Ramsey family, the garden is strictly private: a vast lake acts as bouncer during festival season, keeping (all but a rogue few) partygoers out.

However, once every two years, the De Ramseys do open the garden to the public: held in aid of a host of good causes, such as children's charity Dreamdrops and Cambridgeshire Red Cross, they hold a two-day Garden Show.

Back for 2016, this year's event takes place on June 25 and 26, promising not only a chance to enjoy the garden, but also four 'Chelsea standard' show plots, plant stalls and talks, a food fair, a classic car and cycle display, craft and gift stands, live music and WI-catered teas. In the space of a single weekend, the show raises in the region of £60,000.

Highlights of the garden itself include the park, with its collection of fledgling red-listed oaks; the ox- and cowslip-planted meadow, with its view down to that enormous lake; the various avenues which open invitingly off the bowling-green lawn, leading, among other things, to an ethereal white border; the rose circle, with its fragrant concentric planting and focal Millennium Sundial (handiwork of architect Peter Foster, 'surveyor of the fabric' at Westminster Abbey); the packed double herbaceous border, lined with soldierly cylinders of clipped yew; and the grey border, pocketed with Beth Chatto-designed gravel planting.

All tended by head gardener Gavin Smith and just two assistants, there's also an interesting bog garden, a mini arboretum and a long, L-shaped rose arch, which, like the circle, comes into its own just in time for the garden show.

COMMUNITY

Village to put on its running shoes

A RUNNING event which attracted hundreds of people and raised more than £4,000 last year is to be held again later this month.

Steeple Bumpstead 10k attracted more than 400 people last year and organisers are hoping to beat that figure on Sunday, June 26, when the 10k run will combine with a 3k fun run alongside a barbecue, cake stall, bouncy castle and ice-cream van.

At last year's inaugural race, runners from local clubs – including Haverhill Running Club – took part as well as first-time 10k runners and families, with ages ranging from 2 to 72.

The event raised £4,300 for Steeple Bumpstead Pre-School, which has high running costs as it does not have dedicated premises. The organisers are hoping to raise the same or more this year.

Laura Seymour, an organiser of the event whose children attend the pre-school, said: "We had some families where there were three generations. It had a real family feel. The fact that we have a barbecue this year means that if there are non-runners in the family they can come along and hang around – there's plenty to eat!"

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The 10k multi-terrain route takes runners along the edge of fields and past the picturesque Elizabethan manor house Moyns Hall. Runners are then taken through the village of Birdbrook and up a steep hill to descend into Steeple Bumpstead.

The 3k – which now has a minimum age of 3 years – is along paths outside the village.

The event last year also had between 30 and 40 participants from Stanley Drapkin Primary School in Steeple Bumpstead and Laura said that if the event proved a success this year, then they would consider inviting other primary schools from the area to compete in next year's 3k run.

You can sign up for the 10k by visiting www.entrycentral.com and searching "Steeple Bumpstead". To sign up for the 3k, visit www.steeplebumpsteadpre-school.co.uk. Online registration closes on June 21, but on-the-day registration will be available from 9am to 10.15am at the village hall in Steeple Bumpstead's Finchfield Road, which is the starting point for both runs.

SOLAR SAVINGS: Cllr Alaric Pugh with Geoff Quick, MD, Ian Ross, technical sales director, and Leigh Coussens, commercial director of Ultra Precision Products.

Firm rents out roof and saves cash

A HAVERHILL company is one of 16 businesses to have saved £16,000 with a new solar energy scheme.

The "Rent a Roof" scheme works by companies agreeing to rent their roof to St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which then installs up to 50 kilowatt peak solar panels. The company buys the energy produced at a low rate.

Geoff Quick, MD of Haverhill Ultra Precision Products in Homefields Road, said: "We are always looking for ways to improve our environmental credentials and reduce energy costs and this scheme has achieved both aims."

To find out more email environment@westsuffolk.gov.uk or call (01284) 757400.

Animal care at its best in Linton

ON THE CARING SIDE: Linton vet service

LOCATED in the village of Linton, Belgrave House Veterinary Surgery has been caring for animals in the local community since 1985.

Run by David and Val Urwin with veterinary assistants Nick Bane, Tom Berry and Dinah Skertchly the practice is also supported by qualified nurses Claire Beck, Selina Cole and Laura Oxford and receptionist Wendy Becker. The talented and experienced team work hard to provide a caring, quality service for all pets and livestock.

"Being a small, independent, village based practice allows us to provide the warm, friendly and personal service you and your pet deserve," says Val. "We aim to ensure continuity in the treatment of all pets by our veterinary surgeons, two of whom now have more than 35 years' experience.

"If any case requires the expertise of veterinary specialists we can easily arrange referral to the most appropriate of the excellent referral facilities in the south east. In some cases the specialist will come and examine your pet at the practice". Specialists who regularly visit the practice include cardiologist Paul Smith and ophthalmologist David Williams.

Belgrave House Veterinary Surgery is able to supply full medical and surgical care and has digital x-ray, ultrasound and blood chemistry analyser facilities on site. All procedures requiring a full anaesthetic are continuously monitored by one of the highly trained nurses utilising excellent monitoring systems.

"We are blessed with wonderful clients and will always go the extra mile to ensure they and their pets get the best service possible," says David. "We are pleased to offer home visits for those occasions when it is not possible or desirable for our patients to visit us at the surgery". It is perhaps no surprise then that the majority of new clients registering with this practice come via recommendation from existing highly satisfied clients.

The veterinary surgery is open Monday to Friday from 8.30am to 7pm and Saturday from 8.30am to 12pm. There is convenient parking on site and a 24-hour on-site emergency service run by the same experienced team.

Belgrave House Veterinary Surgery is situated at 139 High Street, Linton, Cambridge, CB21 4JT. Consultations are by appointment only. For more information or to make a consultation appointment please call the surgery on (01223) 893720.

A colourful concert

THREE of the UK's most celebrated guitar virtuosos bring together celtic fingerstyle, jazz, and the percussive classical guitar at Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday, June 25.

Stuart Ryan, Declan Zapala and John Wheatcroft, all respected guitarists in their own field, will play music by Django Reinhardt, Pat Metheny, amongst others as well as original music written by themselves.

Between them they have almost a century of guitar playing experience and prior to their concert they will be sharing their wisdom in soloing, fingerstyle technique and arranging in a masterclass which is suitable for those with 3+ years' playing.

Tickets are £12.50 for the concert at 8pm and £5 for the masterclass at 4pm.

If you come to both then the masterclass is free. Call 01440 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

Thursday, June 16 – Friday, June 24.

■ The Haverhill Festival is back! There's a treat in store when Matt Hale comedy hypnotist visits the arts centre tonight at 8pm with 100% Chicken Free. After packed 2015 shows and a sell-out Fringe season, Hale hits the UK with a fresh set of hilarious (but tasteful) hypnotic routines for one big night of fun. Matt will encourage volunteers to take part in some silly situations – but nothing that your granny would cringe at! Enjoy the show from stage or audience, the choice is yours! Volunteers, who must be 18 or over, can refuse at any point to continue to take part in the performance.

■ Limehouse Lizzy are back in Haverhill as part of their 2016 tour, continuing to keep the spirit of Celtic rock icon Philip Lynott and his band Thin Lizzy alive, well and dominating stages worldwide. The band have also added a tribute into their show to ex-Thin Lizzy guitarist (and world renowned solo artist) Gary Moore. They enter their 21st year with their most explosive show and critically-acclaimed line-up yet. Not to be missed, join them on tomorrow at 8pm.

■ William Tyler will give a talk for all the family about the history of ice cream on Saturday, June 18, at 11am. Arranged by the Haverhill Family History Group, William is an experienced and entertaining educator of more than 30 years standing, who loves to share his enthusiasm for history with others. Lick It and Like It at 11am is free but must be booked in advance. You'll even get a free ice cream after the talk! Numbers are restricted so form an orderly queue!

■ Fancy a chuckle? Join the arts centre for the Monkey Nuts Comedy Club on Sunday, June 19, with Ro Campbell, Steve Gribbin plus Michael Fabbri providing the laughs from 8pm. Line up subject to change.

■ On Tuesday, June 21, at 6.30pm live from Glyndebourne, Il Barbiere di Siviglia is being broadcast. Figaro, the renowned Barber of Seville, uses every trick he can muster to outwit Dr Bartolo and ensure his master wins his chosen bride. He meets his match in the would-be-bride Rosina, who has schemes of her own. Madcap disguises accompany twists and turns and a whirlwind plot. Starring International star and Glyndebourne favourite Danielle de Niese as Rosina and sung in Italian with English subtitles.

■ Barbara Dickson is at the arts centre on Friday, June 24, at 8pm in a special acoustic performance, exploring her catalogue of songs with the support of her pianist Nick Holland. The pair let the words and melodies take centre stage as they perform a wonderful range of material that draws on Barbara's folk roots, her latest exploration of the songs of Gerry Rafferty, and some of her classic hit records. Nick joined Barbara's touring band in the mid-2000s after working with Troy Donockley in the Maddy Prior Band. He also sang on Full Circle, the first album to feature the style of music Barbara now performs. Not to be missed! Also with support from the popular Northern Irish singer Anthony Toner.

■ On the cinema front Florence Foster Jenkins (PG) starring Meryl Streep and Hugh Grant is showing on Wednesday, June 22, at 7.30pm. In 1909, at the age of 41, Florence Foster Jenkins received an inheritance that enabled her to realise her operatic ambitions, blithely undeterred by her own inability to sing in tune. Stephen Frears fashions an amusing and often poignant biopic of a woman driven by self-deceit.

■ Events to look forward to include three of the UK's most respected acoustic guitarists in Three Colours Guitar on Saturday, June 25, at 8pm, a Discover Arts broadcast of Leonardo da Vinci: The Genius in Milan on Tuesday, June 28, at 7.30pm and Andrew Maxwell and Larry Dean preview their new material ahead of their Edinburgh Fringe shows on Friday, July 1, at 8pm.

Euro fans: Toll charges alert

ENGLAND IN FRANCE: Expenses warning

FOOTBALL fans driving in France during Euro 2016 could rack up hundreds of pounds in toll charges, according to a new study.

Motorists following England all the way to the final could pay up to £326 in motorway fees for just seven games, Post Office Travel Money warned.

The most expensive toll charges for a single trip by supporters of the home nations is £82, which Northern Ireland fans face if they drive from Calais to Nice for their opening game against Poland.

The "budget alternative" for driving in France would be to use trunk roads, the report added.

In addition to toll charges, England supporters will already have to fork out up to £479 for petrol or £411 for diesel if they take the quickest driving routes, covering 3,919 miles to get to the final in Paris on July 10.

Having said that – come on England!

UK cars 'among best kept in the world'

UK CARS are among the best kept in the world, according to a new study.

Annual spending on the service and repair of a UK car is an average of £695 – 12 per cent more than the global figure, the report by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) said.

The research also found there are fewer cars in disrepair, generating excess pollution or needing new brakes on UK roads compared to many other countries.

Mike Hawes, SMMT chief executive, said: "The UK's after-market is one of the most competitive in the world and plays a critical role in keeping Britain's 30 million-plus cars roadworthy."

"Robust competition and a strong independent sector have helped reduce the cost of vehicle ownership in the UK and provided greater choice to consumers."

"For this growth to be sustained, however, the sector must stay

LOOKING GOOD: Brit cars are treated with proper love and attention abreast of evolving vehicle technologies and changing mobility patterns."

The report calculated that the after-market sector generates £12.2 billion for the UK and supports 345,000 jobs.

The SMMT report noted that spending on personal cars is often lower than the overall average, with fleet and leasing companies being more likely to follow the manufacturer's recommended maintenance schedules.

New Fiat 124 Spider launch

THE new Fiat 124 Spider was launched in the UK on Tuesday at an international media event in Verona, Italy. Styled with classic Italian flair and reviving a storied nameplate, the new Fiat 124 Spider brings the authentic, Italian roadster driving experience to a whole new generation of British enthusiasts.

Designed in the Fiat Style Centre, the front-end of the 124 Spider encapsulates the essence of its classic predecessor in a modern and bold package – broad and muscular but also elegant and perfectly proportioned. The profile view is pure classic roadster, with its long wheelbase, a cockpit hunkered low near the driven rear axle and a long bonnet, all tied elegantly together by a horizontal line that emerges from the front wing, kicking up over the rear haunch and flowing toward the tail lamp, aping the distinctive bodywork of the original 124 Spider.

The nose of the new 124 Spider also takes its inspiration from the 1966 original with the style and position of the LED headlamps and the hexagonal upper grille all drawing heavily from the details of the classic roadster. The bonnet of the new sports car also emulates the twin power domes of the second-generation Fiat 124 Spider (a functional design feature necessitated by the fitment of larger engines) while the rear view is defined by two main features: the swallow-tail rear wings, the upper surface of which cascade inward toward the decklid, and the sharp horizontal tail lamps with their distinctive ring shape. An integrated rear spoiler enhances the aerodynamic performance of the new 124 Spider, while twin exhaust outlets are a reminder of its sporting pedigree.

The 124 Spider will be available to eight colours, with two pastel finishes (Passione Red and Ice White), five metallic shades (Volcano Black, Argento Grey, Fashion Grey, Magnetic Bronze and Italia Blue) and one tri-coat pearlescent finish: Urban White.

To minimise weight, improve longevity and encourage spur-of-the-moment open air driving experiences, the multi-layer canvas hood is a manual unit that can be operated in seconds using minimal force and without the driver having to leave their seat. Doing so reveals a cabin built to the highest standard from a variety of top-quality soft-touch and premium materials, painstakingly laid out and fine-tuned to ensure the perfect layout of pedals, steering wheel and gear lever with a clear view of the three-dial instrument cluster with a purposeful central rev-counter.

Prices for the Fiat 124 Spider starts at £19,545 for the Classica version, with the Lusso model priced at £22,295 and the top Lusso Plus trim £1,000 more at £23,295.

Dismay for Sims on return to British GT

ALEXANDER Sims' first appearance in this year's British GT Championship ended in disappointment at Silverstone.

Joining Liam Griffin in the Barwell Motorsport Lamborghini Huracan, he put in an excellent drive in the early stages, taking the lead from 38th place as he stormed through the field.

Sims handed over to Griffin during a safety car period but on lap 35 an out-of-control GT3 car was in collision with the latter, forcing him to limp back to the pits.

The incident damaged the car's steering and the team had no option but to retire.

Sims said: "The final result was really disappointing for the whole team after the performance in qualifying and the early stages of the race.

"Conditions in the race were treacherous but we made good strategic choices. I managed to use the weather to my advantage and really found some pace to get through the field. It was great to get out in front in the clear air away from the spray.

"We were really strong and think that we could have had a really good result so the crash was a big disappointment for the team."

Nowhere to Hyde for Haverhill

HAVERHILL suffered a defeat at the hands of Worlington in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

The team were set a challenging target to chase after Worlington posted 335 for 4 in their innings, with Ben Hyde proving the thorn in their side with 171.

Alex Archer scored 70 runs, with skipper Adam Dellar contributing 47 and Anthony Phillips 44, but their efforts were in vain as the team were eventually dismissed for 245.

Haverhill will look to bounce back this weekend at home to Wivenhoe.
